Stories of Feature Pictures Offered by the Local Houses, and Notes of the Film World.

THE GRAND

The Grand offers a special feature tomorrow in the subject "The Great Bullion Robbery," an exciting and thrilling story. The plot is woven about the theft and the events which follow set forth the latest methods of London police of operating against the most dangerous of criminals.

Tonight's subjects are "In Fate's Cycle," a Biograph subject featuring Lionel Barrymore, "The Wages of Sin," a Kalem drama, "Sandy and Sherry," a Vitagraph comedy, "Her Neighbors Next Door," a Biograph drama and "An Alaskan Interlude," an Edison film of the great Northwest.

THE ROYAL

"The Last Will," is the Royal head-line subject.

Getting old and feeble, Sir William Foxworth declares to his daughter and her son his intention of leaving his estate to the son. The mother is overjoyed, but later hears the old nobleman confiding to his ward, Julia Ann Rixey, that he means to make her his heiress. Sir William has seen the lover-like attitude of the young people and writes a third and last will—hiding it behind a portrait of himself. After his death the mother secretly enters the death-chamber, steals the will, leaving all to the ward, and substitutes a forged will, leaving everything to the young man.

The fraud is discovered and the lawyer accuses the mother of having committed the forgery. By accident, he recovers possession of the original second will written by the old man.

The lawyer tells her she must inform Julia Rixey by five o'clock that the fortune is hers. The son, dozing behind a screen, overhears the conversation between the lawyer and his mother and sorrowfully confronts them. Julia, who has also learned the truth, rushes in and, seizing the will leaving all to her, tears it up. The lawyer then destroys the false one, leaving none at all. On their way out, George's mother sees her father's portrait and vents her rage upon it. In its destruction, the last will is disclosed, which gives the entire property to George—on condition that he marry Julia. The two young people have long been in love and all ends as the old nobleman wished it.

THE CALUMET

"A Million Bid," a Vitagraph masterpiece, is the feature at the Calumet theater.

IF YOU ARE A DRINKING MAN

You had better stop at once or you'll lose your job. Every line of business is closing its doors to "drinking" men. It may be your turn next. By the aid of ORRINE thousands of men have been restored to lives of sobriety and industry.

We are so sure that ORRINE will benefit you that we say to you that if after a trial you fail to get any benefit from its use, your money will be refunded.

When you stop "drinking," think of the money you'll save; besides, sober men are worth more to their employers and get higher wages.

Costs only $1.00 a box. We have an interesting booklet about ORRINE that we are giving away free on request. Call at our store and talk it over.—Vandinder & Reed, 5th St., Calumet.—Advertisement.

died from worry and the demands made by his wife's extravagance, Agnes falls a victim to her mother's selfishness. The mother, looking to Agnes to make a wealthy marriage, refuses her consent to the engagement of Agnes and Dr. Loring Brent, saying that if he goes away for a year, and if they still love each other, she will give her consent. Both Agnes and Brent write to each other, but neither receives the letters of the other. Heartbroken, Agnes goes abroad with her mother. In London, her mother meets Geoffrey Marhe, an Australian millionaire, and forces Agnes into an engagement with him. For her mother's sake, Agnes agrees to marry Marhe. Marhe feels keenly her indifference after marriage. The yacht, Rhoda, on which they are taking their honeymoon, is wrecked. Geoffrey Marhe is struck by a falling chandelier and falls unconscious. Agnes struggles desperately to save him. Her mother is pre-occupied in saving Agnes' jewels. Agnes is aided by Hume. Her mother has secured the jewels, but is drowned. Agnes, swept overboard and later rescued, is convinced that her husband has been drowned. The recollection of it unbalances her mind, and Harry Furniss, one of the rescued guests, calls upon Dr. Loring Brent, now a noted brain specialist. Brent calls upon Agnes just after she had found among her mother's papers the letters that she and Loring had written each other, and that her mother had intercepted. Five years later, Dr. Brent, happily married to Agnes, and the proud father of a son, awaits the arrival of Mr. de la Mer, on whom he is to perform an operation that will restore to him his memory of the past. Agnes is given permission by her husband to see the patient, and recognizes him as her husband, Geoffrey Marhe. Hoping that she may be mistaken, she listens breathlessly to his story of the past five years, which is all he can remember of his life. He tells how he was fished up out of the sea; how a novelist became interested in him and introduced him to the sights of Paris, how, in three years he was prosperous, but troubled as to what his past might have been. Agnes tries to dissuade Mr. de la Mer from having the operation performed, but fails. Next morning the operation is performed, and Agnes has not been able to tell her husband. In scenes of intense emotional acting she tries to get word to her husband. The patient recovers his memory for an instant, but the shock is too great, his heart stops beating and he dies.

THE CROWN

The Crown tonight and Saturday features the 13th installment of "Our Mutual Girl" series.

Margaret takes a drive up Fifth avenue with her aunt, Mrs. Knickerbocker and views the great St. Patrick's Day parade. The center of excitement, of course, is the reviewing stand in front of St. Patrick's cathedral, where Cardinal Farley, Mayor Mitchell, Mgr. Lavelle and other ecclesiastical and municipal dignitaries occupy posts of honor.

Through the courtesy of the Grand Marshal of the parade Miss Phillips is introduced to Cardinal Farley and for the second time in a few weeks meets Mayor Mitchell.

After viewing the various societies and military organizations, they bid good-bye to the party in the reviewing stand and enter their limousine.

A visit is made to the hat shop of Madame Louise, where Margaret tries on some dainty creations. Later in the day Elsie De Wolfe is introduced to "Our Mutual Girl" in Central Park. Miss De Wolfe formerly was an actress, but has now turned her attention to the study of art and interior decorations. After the meeting, Margaret and her aunt drive through the park to their Fifth avenue home well content in having spent the day to the best advantage.

THE PEOPLE'S

"The Secret of the Well," an Eclair feature in original colors, is the subject of the People's picture.

Jean Parades writes his nephews that he is to return to France with a fortune. Jealousy arises between the brothers and they erect a fence between their property between which there is a well common to both. One morning, a neighbor attempts to draw a bucket of water and the failure of the wheel to move promotes an investigation. Peering into the bottom of the pit, a body is seen lying across the bucket and when it is drawn to surface, it is discovered to be that of Parades. Immediately the brothers are arrested and circumstantial evidence weaves a web of evidence about them that nearly seals their doom. At the climax, the brothers prove their innocence and the leaders of a gang of murderers, who really threw Parades into the well to secure his fortune, are apprehended.

With the beautiful hand-colored photography characteristic in this film, with the exquisite settings secured from many of the most delightful spots in India, with the splendid acting of a cast drawn from the best theaters in Paris, France, this three-reel photoplay is an unusually attractive feature. The story is essentially one of adventure; it is a detective tale of peculiar nature chock full of unique incidents, exciting action and mystery.

THE LYRIC

The Lyric tonight offers a big amateur program with two headline vaudeville acts. In addition to these acts, a four-reel program of pictures will be shown. The feature subject is "The Fatal Legacy," a two part film.

A special program will be offered tomorrow with six reels, two of which will be feature subjects. "The Terrors of the Jungle," a Selig two-part animal feature, "The Three Scratch Clue," an Essanay two-part sensational drama and "Sophie's Mamma," a Snakeville comedy, are the headline pictures.

Belgium is to be connected with the Congo by cable.

LAURIUM READY FOR THE FOURTH

Festival for Children Will Be the Big Attraction

The eve of July Fourth finds Laurium in readiness for a joyous celebration. With all preliminaries prepared the stage is set for a safe and sane demonstration of patriotism that promises to equal celebrations held in the past, despite the fact that the event this year is conducted solely for the children. Incidentally, Laurium will not vie with other towns of the copper country and instead of a big municipal fete, citizens of this town will assist in making Red Jacket's demonstration a big success.

Through the goodness of heart of local business men, after the council virtually decided there would be no celebration, a fund was solicited which compares favorably with that raised in other towns of the county. This step was taken at the solicitation of the

DEATH OF MRS. HENRY FISHER

Wife of C. & H. Mill Superintendent Is Summoned Today

The death occurred this morning at 6:45 o'clock of Mrs. Henry Fisher, wife of Henry Fisher, superintendent of the Calumet & Hecla mills. Death was due to a complication of diseases from which she had suffered for more than a year. Her condition has been serious for several days and the end was not unexpected.

The late Mrs. Fisher was born in Devonshire, England, February 7, 1849, the daughter of Richard and Mary Paul. When an infant, she came with her parents to America and located at the Cliff mine. On March 26, 1870, at Hancock, she married Mr. Fisher, and three years later the family came to Lake Linden. The remainder of her life was spent in this city. Besides the husband, there survive three children, who are Frederick, of Chicago, Ida at home, and Mrs. M. E. Coleman of Chicago, and four grand children.

For many years, the late Mrs. Fisher was an active member of the Lake Linden M. E. church. She also was a member of Lake Linden chapter, Order of Eastern Star.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon with services at the residence at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in Forest Hill cemetery. Houghton, special cars leaving the residence on First street.

TOWNS READY FOR FOURTH.

Lake Linden, Hubbell and Mills to Have Celebrations.

With the streets gaily decorated with the national colors and flags flying from every staff, residents of Lake Linden, Hubbell and Mills await the arrival of July 4 when they will be hosts at three big celebrations. Weeks have been spent in preparing for the holiday and unfavorable weather only can mar the pleasure of the event. In each of the towns the eagle will scream from daylight till dawn, beginning with the customary salute at sunrise and culminating with gorgeous pyrotechnic displays.

Aquatic sports will feature the celebration in Lake Linden and substantial prizes have been hung up for each event. The calisthenic section of the morning parade also will be an interesting feature and generally, the towns people look forward to a joyous festival. At Hubbell, track and field events will be the principal drawing card and to attract the best athletes of the county, big prizes have been offered. The exercises which will precede the morning program, will be interesting and the chorus of school children will be a novel feature. The sports generally will be divided between Hubbell and Mills to the entire stretch of highway between the towns will be transformed into an athletic field. In the three towns, the safe and sane program will be carried out.

TO BUILD RETAINING WALL.

Hubbell Council To Replace Wooden Structure With One of Concrete.

At a meeting of the Hubbell village council this week, the clerk was authorized to secure bids for a retaining wall 175 feet long and varying from six to twelve feet in height. The structure will be erected on the south side of Guck street, replacing a wooden wall that was erected a number of years ago by the township. For a long period the wall has been decaying and the method of repairing and constantly filling the sides with sand is now deemed obsolete.

A decision also was reached to extend the sewerage system along Myrtle and Daisy streets for a distance of about 500 feet. Frequent demands for this extension were made in the past year but the board has not been in a position until now to meet the expense.

At the August meeting of the council, a successor to Seldon B. Cray, a member of the board of trustees, will be selected. Mr. Cray has removed from the village and his departure creates a vacancy which the council must fill.

THE FOURTH

ON this day in 1776 our freedom was really born; from that day on it was a long, bitter fight, but right won out.

In the last decade men have been gaining a new freedom--it's in clothes. They no longer have to suffer the excessive made-to-measure charges nor the time-wasting, delay and uncertainty.

You men can now get just what you want when you want it in ready clothes.

Hart Schaffner & Marx have been the big factor in this victory. Men everywhere have come to know that no matter what their size or what their taste, they can get something they'll like in these good clothes at a very moderate charge and at a moment's notice.

If you're one of the men who are not in on this victory, you'd better come in today.
